

Misperceived Social Norms about Women Working Outside the Home and Its Effect on Women in Saudi Arabia*

Boxuan Yi Ruoxian Wu

February 10, 2024

First sentence. Second sentence. Third sentence. Fourth sentence.

Table of contents

1	Introduction	2
2	Data	2
2.1	Source	2
2.2	Methodology	2
3	Results	2
3.1	Figure 1 (Originally figure 2)	2
3.2	Table 1 (Originally table 1)	2
3.3	Figure 2 (Originally figure 4)	2
3.4	Figure 3 (Originally figure 6)	2
4	Discussion	2
4.1	First discussion point	2
4.2	Second discussion point	2
4.3	Third discussion point	2
4.4	Bias	2
4.5	Weaknesses and next steps	2

*Code and data are available at: <https://github.com/ScarletWu/Misperceived-Social-Norms-Women-Working-Outside-the-Home-in-Saudi-Arabia>. Replication on Social Science Reproduction platform available at: <https://www.socialsciencereproduction.org/reproductions/1461/>

Appendix	4
A Additional data details	4
B References	5

1 Introduction

You can and should cross-reference sections and sub-sections.

The remainder of this paper is structured as follows.

2 Data

2.1 Source

2.2 Methodology

3 Results

3.1 Figure 1 (Originally figure 2)

3.2 Table 1 (Originally table 1)

3.3 Figure 2 (Originally figure 4)

3.4 Figure 3 (Originally figure 6)

4 Discussion

4.1 First discussion point

4.2 Second discussion point

4.3 Third discussion point

4.4 Bias

4.5 Weaknesses and next steps

Table 1: Summary Statistics (Main Experiment)

	All	Control	Treatment
Observations	500	247	253
Age	24.78 (4.21)	24.64 (3.99)	24.91 (4.41)
Number of Children	1.71 (1.72)	1.64 (1.7)	1.77 (1.74)
College Degree (%)	56.2	55.06	57.31
Employed (%)	86.6	87.45	85.77
Wife Employed (%)	65.2	65.59	64.82
Wife Working Outside the Home (% retrospective follow-up)	8.4	7.89	8.9
Other Participants Known (%)	51.19 (38.24)	49.68 (38.6)	52.66 (37.92)
Other Participants with Mutual Friends (%)	38.64 (34.94)	37.62 (34.62)	39.63 (35.29)

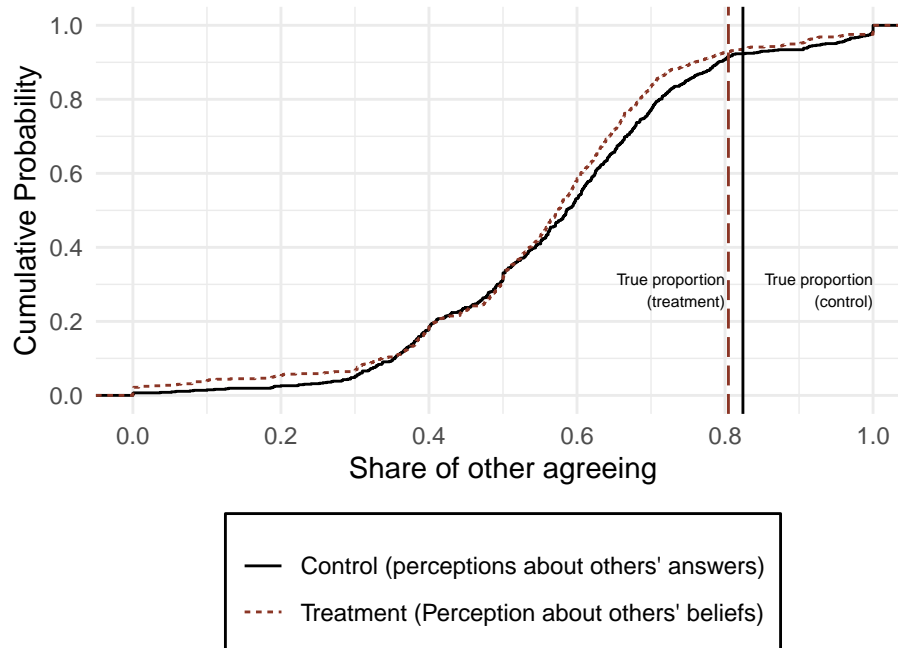

Figure 1: Misperceptions about Others' Beliefs (National Survey)

Appendix

A Additional data details

B References